So the knowledge, I just knew that bathrooms are a place where law enforcement has to police and be aware of.  Q. How does that make the officers more credible than Mr. Holden?  A. Well, it's certainly, in policing, I would want my officers, just as these officers did, to go in there. The credibility aspect comes in, they are trained, they observe a crime, they have probable cause, they make the arrest, they swear to an affidavit that what they've observed and what they saw, they take an oath as police officers to enforce the law. And I believe in this circumstance, that that's what they did and that they were credible and that they were telling the truth.	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	of things. Q. Was there any other evidence other than the officers' observations about what Mr. Holden did in the bathroom in 2014?  MS. MILLER: Objection. Other than what he's already testified to?  MS. CONTI-COOK: Yes. A. So the question is was there any other evidence? Q. Right. A. Other than the elements of the crime public lewdness? Q. Let me rephrase. Other than the officer's word versus Mr. Holden's word, was there any other evidence of lewdness happening in the bathroom in 2014?  MS. MILLER: Objection. MS. CONTI-COOK: You may state
